מזל טוב !

The birth of a child is a joyous occasion in Judaism. Congregation Rodeph Sholom will happily assist you in the celebration of your simcha—for boys, brit milah, and for girls, a baby naming. Whether your child has come into your family by birth or by adoption, these rituals offer ways to welcome them into the covenant.

The information in this brochure will help in the planning of your baby's Naming/ Brit Milah at Congregation Rodeph Sholom. We invite you to welcome your baby into the covenant at Rodeph Sholom.

Here are some key things to keep in mind for the special day:

Checklist:

- Confirm Mohel
- Make appointment with Clergy
- Book space for ceremony and reception
- Hire the caterer
- Let the office know what caterer, florist, etc. you decide to hire
- Arrange for deliveries to come during approved times

Catering

We will provide you with an approved list of caterers. These caterers know our facility very well, however, should you choose to use someone else, approval from our office is necessary.

Mohel

We are happy to provide you with a list of Mohelim who have been either recommended by our clergy or our members. Contact Rachael or Abbe to receive the list.

Our Clergy

A brit milah or baby naming ceremony is a wonderful celebration for your family, and also an important communal moment. In this covenantal ceremony, your child is officially welcomed into the Jewish community. We encourage you to contact a member of our clergy, who can work with you in framing the experience in the context of the Jewish community and Congregation Rodeph Sholom.

Congregation Rodeph Sholom

Congregation Rodeph Sholom is one of New York's most distinguished Reform congregations. We offer extensive programming, family services, and education throughout the year.

We invite you to join us! To learn about membership opportunities, contact Nadine Kochavi at 646-454-3055 or membership@crsnyc.org

Room Rentals

Rentals are based on the number of guests, and the availability of the space. We have many different rooms to accommodate various reception sizes from 20 to 300 people. The member rate for the rental is $1,000 and the non-member rate is $1,250. This includes two rooms security, tables, chairs, and linens. Our staff is available to help you plan your unforgettable and meaningful simcha.

Please call the Rodeph Sholom Operations Office for more information or to make an appointment.
