

THE CHRONICLE

FROM THE RABBI'S STUDY

THE SIXTH SENSE | Rabbi Ben Spratt

We knew it was growing in the darkness. An ancient scourge in modern garb. A viral racism seemingly immune to inoculation. Our texts and tables are littered with the tales of atrocity, reminders that anti-Semitism is nearly as aged as Judaism itself. We heard of the deadly attacks against Jewish targets around the world, noted the escalation of hate-speech and bigotry. Yet most of us lived in the innocence of an American Jewish life relatively unblemished by the growing darkness.

When 11 Jews were murdered amidst Shabbat prayer in the sanctity of synagogue on that fateful day in October, that innocence immediately shattered. And, for many of us, the darkness finally came into focus. For it is a familiar darkness; our spirits and cells stir with recognition of an inky evil that has infected before. Baked into the heart of Jewish identity is more than values and ideals – the bedrock of memory. In the words of Jonathan Safran Foer:

Jews have six senses. Touch, taste, sight, smell, hearing... memory... For Jews, memory is no less primary than the prick of a pin, or its silver glimmer, or the taste of the blood it pulls from the finger. The Jew is pricked by a pin and remembers other pins. It is only by tracing the pin prick back to the other pin pricks—when his mother tried to fix his sleeve while his arm was still in it... when Abraham tested the knife point to be sure Isaac would feel no pain—that the Jew is able to know why it hurts. When a Jew encounters a pin, he asks, 'What does it remember like?' Memory is the sixth sense of the Jew.

These past weeks have triggered much of our collective memory, given context to a larger pattern that map the atrocities in Squirrel Hill to many other eras and areas. For many, we feel a storm of emotions, a call to act, and a struggle to know where to begin. Perhaps, especially now, it may be helpful to return to the beginning.

The rabbis of the Talmud imagine that Adam, the primordial human, one day notices that as the winter weeks progress, the daylight hours diminish. He sees his world growing darker by the day. And he says, "Woe is me! The world grows darker and is slowly returning to a state of chaos and void. This is what the heavens decreed upon me." So Adam prays and fasts for eight days. He cries out wondering why the Creator of Light would allow darkness to return to the universe. And so God teaches Adam to become a creator of light as well, and gives Adam the knowledge to create fire. In Judaism, light is not a Promethean treasure stolen from the heavens, but a gift from God. In awe and gratitude, Adam recalls God's first act of creation to create light, and turns his eight days of fasting and praying into an annual eight-day holiday to celebrate God's creation of light. And this becomes Chanukah.

In the bitterness of winter, during the darkest of nights, this rabbinic frame of Chanukah reminds us of our ideal response to this world. Innocence and safety may be shattered, fear and hatred may bloom beneath the cover of night. But, like Adam, we are given the tools and knowledge with which to kindle light, to spark new hope especially in the darkest of times. On Chanukah we light our candles as a reminder that we too can be creators of light, that we too can illuminate the world around us. In memory, we find purpose.

The depth of darkness may at times be great in our world, leaving us cold, isolated, and afraid. It may be burdensome to believe in possibility. It may feel a lofty yearning to pray for peace, to imagine a world without hate. But the one requirement of this holiday is that we kindle our lights of hope, and place them such that the world can see. Our one ritual responsibility is to illuminate the world beyond the boundaries of our own homes. To proclaim our Jewish memory, declare our people's presence, and remind the world that ours is the mission to be a light to all peoples. And in this way, we look to make the kindling of candles inspire the igniting of change. We may start close in, from our homes and within our own neighborhoods. We may move from lighting Chanukiyot to handing out blankets, from savoring latkes to feeding the hungry, from eating chocolate gelt to giving coins to those in need. From our windows, may the world be illuminated; from our actions, may hearts be lifted.

And we may take up the mantle of our Maccabean memory, as generations before us have done. Each of us from our windows, with our philanthropy, through our advocacy, and from our actions, may we choose connection over division, compassion over cynicism. And call out anti-Semitism and racism in all its mutations. From the far right and the far left in our country, and those abroad seeking the destruction of Israel and world Jewry. In the words of David Harris, "Some, for a variety of political reasons, would rather downplay one or more of these wellsprings, but all pose a grave danger — and all need to be confronted head-on."

As we bring generosity and gift-giving into our own homes, may this season ignite in us the urgency to extend it beyond our walls. Please help us provide hot meals during these cold days at St. Xavier's Soup Kitchen, and of course, help make CRS a home to those most in need by volunteering in our shelter. Inside this Chronicle, you'll find ways to bring light and hope to the world during our Festival of Light.

Micah, Ayalah, Jonah, and I wish you a meaningful Chanukah. May this season connect us to the memory of what has been, the reminder to shine in the face of the darkness that is, and the call to righteousness to create all that ought to be.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS | Barbara Zakin

Welcoming new members is truly one of my favorite things to do during the year. All of us at CRS want you to feel welcome in your new home and to guide you through all that we offer here. Each and every congregant is important to us. Perhaps you joined to worship, or learn, or observe a lifecycle event. Or perhaps you enrolled your children in RSS or Religious School. Whatever the reason, we are happy you are here and want to make your experience at Rodeph Sholom rewarding and meaningful.

It's almost time for Chanukah! Please come to our lively and fun Chanukah Latke Party on Friday, December 7 right after Erev Shabbat services where you can spin dreidls and get to know your new community (see all our Chanukah happenings on Page 3). Below are just a few of our exciting events this season that celebrate our Jewish heritage.

Hebrew Basics, beginning in January, is a way to master the Hebrew alphabet and learn reading and pronunciation. The 8-week morning course is geared especially for RSS parents, scheduled after drop-off, so that you may better relate to young Hebrew learners at home. There is also an evening class. Both are open to all. (See Page 7.)

Our clergy team leads Fruits of the Vine on Tuesday, January 15 at 7:00 pm, with a variety of wines and non-alcoholic artisanal juices to taste while we learn their importance in our sacred texts.

Dr. Ruth Westheimer joins us on Wednesday, January 23. After light snacks at 6:30 pm, Dr. Ruth will speak at 7:00, guiding and advising us on how to raise resilient children. As a Holocaust survivor, she found her own resilience to build a meaningful life that includes helping others. (Co-sponsored with RSS PA)

Music has always played an important role in our synagogue. On Thursday, February 7 at 6:30 pm, we welcome the up-and-coming band Bailen to our Winter Coffee House. Bailen is an urban-folk band and the performers are RSS alums. (Co-sponsored with RSS Alumni Office)

For more information on fees and registering for these and many more, see Page 4. It is at such events that you can get to know the Clergy and make new friends. Our website, rodephsholom.org, is a wonderful resource to learn about what's going on. And please feel free to reach out to me at any time at bzakin@crsnyc.org.

WE ARE RENOVATING OUR LOBBY!

God created the world in six days. It will take us a bit longer.

We are excited to bring our CRS family a brighter, more welcoming, and more secure lobby. Construction is scheduled to conclude in late spring 2019. During this time we are putting up temporary walls in the lobby and a lower ceiling.

We are pleased to tell you that we are preserving our beautiful historic chandeliers, terrazzo floor, and travertine walls. The Security Desk is moving to a more secure location before entering the lobby. There will be no active construction during worship times and it will have no effect on the Main Sanctuary. We have also assured that all our programming will continue.

You'll hear noise and our lobby will not be pretty...until it's done! We thank you for your patience and cooperation while we work to bring you the lobby that CRS deserves.

STARS OF HOPE | Yvette Perry

Tikkun olam is the divine imperative to perform acts of kindness that are intended to “repair the world.” Now hanging in front of the Tree of Life Congregation in Pittsburgh, are 45 five-pointed Stars of Hope. They were painted on our Mitzvah Day with love by our CRS children. And were delivered the next day. So colorful, each carries a message of hope, that there will be light, that this community will find strength, and that all of us are one community that will not be defeated. Something to consider when lighting our Chanukah candles.

Throughout the years The Chronicle has featured our own Jeff Parness who has taken tikkun olam as his obligation as a Jew. To thank the responders who helped us after 9/11, in 2003 he created New York Says Thank You which sends volunteers from NYC to help communities rebuild after disaster. And that begat Stars of HOPE in 2009.

Our children’s Mitzvah Day stars stand as a symbol of transformation. Each one intended to help repair the Squirrel Hill community with kindness and love. Just as the tree of life symbolizes a fresh start and strength, the Tree of Life Congregation will grow from strength to strength. During our Festival of Light, perhaps our children’s Stars of Hope will help guide them through the dark nights and lead them to a world of light. Tikkun olam is the answer.

MAYER W. NATHANS SERVICE AWARD HONORS CLAUDIA WAGNER AND JANIE ROHER

Celebrating at the Erev Shabbat Service on November 30, Claudia Wagner and Janie Roher receive the Meyer W. Nathans Service Award for the wonderful work they’ve done resettling our refugee family and welcoming them into our community. The award is named in honor of Meyer “Mike” Nathans who inspired many of our leaders to devote their talents to the welfare and well-being of our Synagogue.

Claudia and her husband Don Lebowitz joined CRS in 1991. Their sons, Zev (his wife is Eliza Quanbeck) and Ezra are b’nai mitzvah and Confirmands of CRS. Claudia has been involved in the Governance committee and is a recipient of the Gemilut Chasidim award; and Don served on the Ritual committee.

Janie and her husband Joe have been members since 1977. Their daughter Jennifer, now a Cantor, and son Jed are b’nai mitzvah and Confirmands of CRS. Jennifer and her husband Ryan Smith have two sons, Gabriel and Elijah. Jed and his wife Nora Edie have a son, Romeo. Janie is an Honorary Member on the Board of Trustees and chaired the CRS Annual Meeting. She was an active participant in our Leadership Development, Ritual, Caring Community, and Membership committees.

From Peter Ehrenberg, Board Vice President and Chair of the Social Action Committee:

When HIAS approached the New York City synagogues about volunteering as host organizations to resettle a refugee family, Congregation Rodeph Sholom (in partnership with our friends at Temple Emanu-El) was one of the first to respond affirmatively. In agreeing to resettle a family, the CRS Board and our Clergy knew that it would require a massive volunteer effort to assure that we would effectively perform our responsibility of welcoming strangers from foreign lands. The resettlement effort has required CRS to be prepared to assist in providing shelter, clothing, training, educational assistance, employment assistance, and a multitude of other services. In short, everything necessary to integrate them into the NYC community.

While this program has resonated within our Synagogue, producing a large number of volunteers, the responsibility of coordinating this entire effort has been assumed by Claudia and Janie. They have selflessly and passionately led our Synagogue and volunteer team. Their amazing organizational skills and dedication are exceeded only by their extraordinary commitment to assure that we fulfill this covenantal responsibility to welcome four young men so that they may, over time, cease to be strangers.

DEVELOPMENT | Lyndsie Levine

In the fall edition of the Chronicle, I mentioned that throughout the year I would be sharing the Rodeph Sholom stories of our congregants. This month's reflection comes to us from longtime congregant and Trustee, Eileen Kleiman and her husband Peter Lurye. When thinking about their CRS journey and what it means to be a philanthropic supporter of our community, Eileen shares the following:

"Peter and I joined Congregation Rodeph Sholom 19 years ago when our older son was accepted to RSS's nursery division. We immediately felt a sense of the 'rightness' of both the RSS and CRS communities. Neither of us had grown up in the Reform Jewish tradition. I was raised in a Conservative Jewish congregation in Michigan; Peter did not attend temple as a child, having been brought up in a completely non-observant but culturally and intellectually Jewish family on Long Island.

Despite our different backgrounds, it was easy for us both to feel quickly at home at Rodeph Sholom, which is a tribute to the passion, intelligence, and commitment to inclusion that we saw in the clergy and the congregants we met.

Both of our boys thrived educationally and socially at RSS and became b'nai mitzvah at CRS. At the same time, Peter's and my connection to both the school and shul communities grew deeper. CRS is a place where we can join with others we respect to discuss current events through a Jewish lens, whether those events are uplifting, puzzling, or upsetting — and that support system is very important to us. The community also extends beyond the walls of our synagogue building; we love the fact that as we walk around the Upper West Side, we frequently run into the close friends and clergy we've come to know through CRS.

I am proud to have become a Trustee because I am proud of everything that happens at CRS and the many communities it serves. And together, Peter and I are thrilled to be able to give back to Congregation Rodeph Sholom — our small town within New York City — with our tzedakah."

I hope that these words will inspire you to think about your own connection to our congregation and the role Rodeph Sholom plays in your life. Whether it's through educational experiences, adult programming, clergy relationships, or the everyday interactions between community members that make a big city feel smaller, your support makes these connections possible. As the calendar year comes to a close and we begin to wrap up this year's Yom Kippur Appeal, I hope you will consider including CRS in your tzedakah this year. Your gift, at any level, makes a significant impact on our shared Rodeph Sholom home.

With gratitude for your thoughtfulness and support, I wish you a 2019 filled with blessing and joy.

MAKING YOUR GIFT

If you would like your donation to qualify for a 2018 tax credit, please be sure to make an online gift by midnight on December 31 or send in a check before the end of the year. Any mail postmarked by December 31 will qualify. Please note that the synagogue offices will be closed from December 24 through January 1, so if you would like to make a gift of appreciated stock, please be sure to leave enough time for the transaction to be completed during this busy season. You can call the Development Office at 646.454.3052 for transfer instructions.

CRS HELPS CITY HARVEST FIGHT HUNGER

Yvette Perry

Your response to Rabbi Levine's impassioned plea to fill this year's City Harvest trucks to the brim on Yom Kippur morning was gratifying beyond measure. What we can measure, however, is the amount your generosity made possible: 10,100 pounds of food! And this is what your generosity accomplished: We helped City Harvest to deliver a substantial amount of food to its 500 community food programs throughout the City – feeding hungry New Yorkers each week.

Our community always answers the call to help whenever, however we can. Your commitment to fight hunger is a paradigm for goodwill. This is a tough time for many. Some find it hard to see the light. Your continued support of the CRS Food Drive throughout the year provides some light, some hope, and some help because hunger does not end when Yom Kippur concludes.

Please make a donation at rodephsholom.org/give/donate-now/. Select Food Drive from the Fund/Program drop-down menu.

MITZVAH DAY BLOOD DRIVE

“To save a life is to save the world.”

Nine out of every 10 people will need a transfusion or a blood product during their lifetime. Giving blood gives us the opportunity to help make a difference. This year the CRS community made such a meaningful achievement again during Mitzvah Weekend, collecting 86 units that will serve 258 people. Each unit is processed and divided into three separate blood products (plasma, red blood cells, and platelets), meaning each donated unit can help three different people.

Those who donated their blood were congregants, faculty, and staff from CRS and RSS, as well as people in the neighborhood who stopped in to make contributions, too.

Our donations help give life each year to the many people who require blood transfusions. And the reason CRS hosts a blood drive on Mitzvah Days – a mitzvah that helps our community.

Religious School

DEDICATION TO EDUCATION | Kerith Braunfeld

Chanukah celebrates the re-dedication of the Temple in Jerusalem in the time of the Maccabees. In Hebrew, the root word of the holiday's name is chet, nun, chaf which means dedication. The same root word is the basis for the Hebrew word for education – chinuch. Sharing this root word teaches us that we are meant to dedicate and re-dedicate ourselves to holy spaces and to the pursuit of learning.

This season especially, these messages resonate for me, my staff, and the families of the Religious School as we moved back to the 5th floor post-construction. After having been "exiled" and living in the "diaspora" of the rest of the 83rd Street building, it feels great to be back home in our new, special place.

In Judaism we dedicate spaces and declare them holy through a ceremony called a Chanukat Habayit – dedication of a home. Do you recognize that Hebrew root word again? The students and teachers are indeed dedicating this new space and imbuing it with holiness and learning.

In particular, we are dedicating ourselves to the Jewish value of chesed, being kind and compassionate to all those around us. The new classrooms and hallways are filled with words and statements from our students reminding all of us to be kind:

"Have a nice day. Do you need any help with anything? What's the problem? Can I help solve it? Come sit with us. You got this. Nice job. You are amazing!"

Two other aspects of Chanukah involve expressing gratitude and the giving and receiving of gifts. To be back on our 5th floor watching our students in their new, specialized classrooms learning about prayer, God, Israel, history, and Jewish values through music, art, cooking, and movement, is a true gift and reminder that we fill this space with holiness and express gratitude for this amazing gift.

RODEPH SHOLOM SCHOOL

Welcomes New Head of Middle School

Rodeph Sholom School is proud to introduce Eve Andrias, Head of the RSS Middle School Division, to the community. Eve grew up on the Upper West Side and joins RSS from Spence, where she served as the K-12 Director of Learning Resources. Eve is thrilled to return to a Middle School role, as her passion has always been working with adolescents. She takes pride in partnering with parents to help children navigate these complicated years while honoring the adolescence stage.

Eve has already made a wonderful transition to the community with her very hands-on approach: visiting classrooms, serving as an advisor, having pizza lunches with students, and meeting with current parents. She has been overjoyed by the sincere welcome from RSS parents, faculty, and students and looks forward to meeting the CRS community as well.

ABOUT CONGREGATION RODEPH SHOLOM

Rodeph Sholom, one of New York's most distinguished Reform congregations, embodies a strong commitment to purposeful Jewish living and the pursuit of human dignity. Our congregation is a true community, excelling in meaningful worship, educational opportunity for all ages, social and tzedakah programs. We strive to be an extended family of people who care about each other and our community.

Founded in 1842 on the Lower East Side, Rodeph Sholom has always sought to blend the teachings of our Jewish heritage with the best lessons of modern culture. We are proud of our beautiful worship services, our commitment to social action, and our emphasis on Jewish education for people of all ages. Rodeph Sholom was the first Reform congregation to open a Jewish Day School. Our schools, like our congregation, are flourishing. Remaining true to our name which is Hebrew for "pursuer of peace," Rodeph Sholom takes great pride in our history and is hard at work to fulfill the promise of our future.
